DEMOCRATIC RALLY HELD AT CHILHOWIE

Inspiring Addresses by Stuart, Martin, Swanson and Flood.

AN ALL-DAY GATHERING

Results Will Be Manifested in No Uncertain Manner in November.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Chilhowie, Va., September 28.—Surpassing in both the matter of attendance and enthusiasm any political meeting held in Smyth county in recent years, an old-fashioned all-day Democratic rally took place here to-day, when 1,500 of the sturdy men and noble women of this beautiful Holston Valley heard four speeches by as many of the ablest orators in the State.

Listeners to inspiring music by a popular band and partook of a dinner out in the open air which was fit for kings to enjoy. It was a democratic meeting, indeed, as well as in name, and was not only thoroughly enjoyed by all who attended, but it is freely predicted by local and State leaders here to-night that its results will manifest themselves in no uncertain manner in the sweeping victory they are now stoutly claiming for Stuart in November.

The speakers were Mr. Stuart, Congressman Flood, and Senators Martin and Swanson, who appeared in the order named, the first two having spoken before and the others after dinner, said had no tariff duties upon it, but was free to all.

In the early hours of the morning, the outlook for a large crowd was not peculiarly bright, as there were threatening clouds, which seemed to fore-shadow an approaching rain. But these clouds drifted, and as they did, people poured in by scores and by hundreds from all the surrounding country. They not only came, but they stayed until far into the afternoon, cheering almost to an individual the scorching, blistering arraignment of Cannonism, and the inequities of the Payne-Albright tariff law, and the consequent appeals of the speakers for a return of the Democratic party to power in our national life.

Stuart Is Lionized.
Mr. Stuart, who was fairly lionized throughout the day, followed his usual lines in discussing the tariff, the trusts and Cannonism, and in clear, unmisleading language, he again reminded the members of the Annanias Club all those who are slandering and misrepresenting him with reference to the suffrage question.

All the other speakers discussed the issues in an able manner and they warmly praised the private character and public services of the big, popular farmer candidate, and for this they were loudly cheered. It was a happy combination that came together here to-day, so far as the speakers are concerned.

Mr. Stuart and Senator Martin dealt in cold methodical facts, marshaled in such absolute order as to appeal to the sound judgment of the thinking masses of all the walks of life while Senator Swanson and Congressman Flood mixed their logic with inspiring bursts of oratory, which now and then worked the great audience up to the highest pitch of enthusiasm. No abler discussion of the issues involved in the campaign, and no severer arraignment of the evils resulting from the Republican administrations of the past twelve years have ever been heard in the district, and the evening was undoubtedly created a heavy advance in Stuart stock.

County Chairman J. D. Buchanan presided and each speaker was introduced by a different district leader of prominence. The meeting was held at the High School grounds, just on the outskirts of the town.

FIELD DAY AT GATE CITY.
Flood and Irvine Address Large Crowd.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Gate City, Va., September 28.—Another field day for Democracy was scored here yesterday. R. Tate Irvine, of Big Stone Gap, and Congressman H. D. Flood addressed an audience which well filled the large court room. Mr. Irvine logically discussed the tariff question, while Congressman Flood discussed with great power the work of the Constitutional Convention, showing how it secured white supremacy throughout Virginia and saved the Ninth District from the conditions that prevail in West Virginia. He devoted the remainder of his speech to the tariff and trusts, and a more masterly exposition of these questions has never been heard here.

As the Democratic speaking began, a brass band began playing near the front of the courthouse, but no man left the room. This Sloop race failed signally. Slomp, P. H. McGaull, J. H. Catron and Bessie Gillette spoke from a platform on the sidewalk to a shifting crowd that at no time would have filled the courtroom. The Republicans had largely advertised by speaking to eclipse the great Stuart gathering of August 20. Although it was courtyard not half as many people were here as at the Stuart gathering, and less than a fifth as many heard Slomp as heard Stuart.

WARM WELCOME AT SALTVILLE.
Stuart and Martin Greeted by Great Gathering of Voters.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Saltville, Va., September 28.—Henry Carter Stuart and Senator Martin addressed the largest crowd that ever assembled at any political gathering in Saltville in the assembly hall Monday night. It was here that Mr. Stuart spent his early boyhood and young manhood, and the place which he knew him longest would gladly crown him with the highest honors within their gift. It is believed that Mr. Stuart will have a strong following in this vicinity by many who have long been of a different political persuasion. The speakers were introduced by P. J. Harvie.

Mr. Stuart led off in a speech of nearly two hours' length and was followed by Senator Martin in a much shorter speech. Both speakers were accorded the closest attention from start to finish.

This is the first time Senator Martin has honored the town of Saltville with his presence, or brought words of cheer and instruction to this people. Senator Martin made many new friends while here, and strengthened the ties between himself and his old friends, who have accorded him their support in the past.
